7. Description:

This building is estimated by the Clayton County Assessor to have been built in 1870. Newspaper accounts indicate that this building was reconstructed in 1891-1892 after a fire in the Mullen Hotel/Farmers Hotel that occurred in June 1891.

The Mullen Building at 109 South Main Street is an example of a vernacular brick commercial building from the 1890s that was subsequently modified with the removal of its bracketed metal cornice and the addition of a simple brick parapet. By 2011 the building has had further modifications including modification of the original two shop spaces into a single storefront with only one entrance in the south half. This entrance is recessed between two asymmetrical shop windows. Entrances to the upper level continue to be located at the outer edges of the building. To the left of the shop windows, a solid masonry wall composed of red-colored, 10-inch laid in a staggered pattern. The upper level retains its original reddish-brown colored brick laid in running bond. Between levels a wide wood band constructed of plywood panels covers the former transom and upper bulkhead area of the shop spaces. The windows on the upper level have segmental brick arches with stone trim and sills. The undecorated parapet has a simple metal coping. At the rear of the building an upper level deck area with a wrought-iron railing overlooks the Turkey River.

8. Significance:

The Mullen Building at 109 South Main Street is an example of a modified 1890s era Italianate Style commercial building that has had extensive alterations. This early retail building had two shop spaces and despite its alterations, it retains its original massing and scale making it a contributing resource in the Elkader Downtown Historic District. The district derives significance under both Criteria A and C. Under Criterion A, the district's commercial buildings are associated with the historic contexts developed for the downtown in the "Architectural and Historical Resources of the Elkader Downtown Historic District" Multiple Property Documentation form covering the years 1846 to 1960. Under Criterion C, portions of the building's vernacular form are representative of the turn of the century building boom in the downtown.

Elkader Downtown Historic District Background:

The town of Elkader was laid out in 1846 along the banks of the Turkey River approximately 16 miles upstream from the Turkey River's confluence with the Mississippi River. The town was surveyed and laid out in 1846 with the Original Town Plat filed in June 22, 1846 by Timothy Davis, Chester Sage and John Thompson, friends and business partners, who began operating a sawmill on North Front (Main) Street in 1845 before the town was even platted. By 1849 they had a successful flour mill in operation. The new town was named for Abd el-Kader, an Algerian freedom fighter and world figure who was admired by Davis. The principal building stimulating development in the 1840s and 1850s was the Elkader Mill. After 1860 when the Clayton County voters selected Elkader as the permanent county seat, the downtown saw a variety of merchants set up shops, several hotels open, a number of newspapers begin publication, and small manufacturing concerns get underway in the city center. Elkader numbered 440 residents in 1860.

The new county court house saw its first section completed in 1869 opposite the downtown. New limestone buildings were erected along both North and South Main Street with public halls frequently located on upper floors. During the 1870s and 1880s 2-story brick buildings began replacing frame business houses. A permanent railroad connection was completed by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul RR in 1886 but service remained poor as Elkader was located at the end of a spur rather than along a main line route. A more important transportation improvement during the 1880s was the completion of the Keystone Bridge across the Turkey River in 1880. Its completion prompted a period of economic vitality and community investment. The community was officially incorporated two years later in 1891 and a new waterworks system and city well were completed in 1896. Electricity was rejected by locals until the end of the decade in 1900, however. In the meantime, new churches were built in 1897 for the Congregationalists on the east side of the river and in 1897-1899 for the Catholics on the west side of the river. Coupled with a series of major fires during the 1890s, the downtown saw a period of rebuilding with a new hotel and bank at the entrance to the business district at the turn of the century. The new opera house was completed on North Main Street while other 2 and 3-story brick blocks appeared both north and south of Bridge Street.

By 1900, Elkader's population stood at its peak of 1,321 – an increase of 77 percent during the decade of the 1890s. Development continued in the downtown before and after World War I but at a much slower pace. Floods and fires damaged the Elkader Mill in 1902, 1906 and 1908, but it was nevertheless rebuilt by Schmidt Brothers & Co., retaining a key employer and anchor for Elkader's downtown. The business district began to extend to the west before and after the war with the principal changes seen along West Bridge Street. Here livery stables and wagon shops were replaced by automobile dealerships, implement companies and filling stations. Five stations eventually located along West Bridge with a sixth one block to the south along First Street SW. The national economic depression of the 1930s was coupled by the closing of the Elkader Mill in 1939 following a major fire. Natural disasters after World War I included major floods in 1922, 1947, and 1958 with a tornado destroying section of South Main Street in 1958 as well.

Despite these natural and human made disasters, Elkader saw steady but modest population growth from 1,223 in 1920 to 1,526 in 1960. The impact of the automobile was seen in traffic patterns, parking patterns, and traffic signs and the introduction of electricity saw several generations of street lighting come and go. The popularity of the opera house waned and the first floor became the municipal fire station while two movie houses came and one stayed in the downtown drawing evening crowds for entertainment and shopping. As many as 130 people resided in downtown flats during this period. A good system of inter and intra-state highways connected Elkader and its downtown to other parts of the state and country in a way that railroads had never served the community. By 1960, downtown Elkader was well-established as one of several geographically dispersed retail centers serving Clayton County. Virtually every storefront was filled with start-up businesses or multi-generational family stores as Elkader's downtown achieved a stable and healthy status for local and countywide residents.

Historic Background for the Mullen Building at 109 South Main Street:

The Mullen Building at 109 South Main Street was erected in 1891-1892 by owner P.H. Mullen. This followed a fire in the previous Mullen Hotel in June 1891, the first of a series of important fires along Main Street during the decade. The building sustained major damage but Mullen made the decision to rebuild in July 1891 after his insurance settlement of $1,500 was adjusted. The 1895 Sanborn Map shows the building with two storefront spaces – one to the north used as the post office and the one to the south as a clothing store. By 1902 the north space was used as a saloon and the south shop space was vacant. A decade later the saloon occupied both storefront spaces with James Humphrey and John McLaughlin as owners. In 1919 the property was transferred to Christian Larson briefly and then to Charles Oehring. In 1921 it was sold to William Hand who with his family operated the saloon and recreation center there until 1946. In 1962 the property passed to Aden Hansen who opened the Pastime Café and Recreation here. A series of short term ownership saw the building sold in 1975 to Henry Dolan in 1975, to Eugene and Bernadean Albert in 1980 and Monica Stence in 1985. In 1991 the property was sold to Keith and Kay Knospe who operated the Keystone Restaurant here and in the adjoining building at 107 South Main Street until 2000 when they sold the building to Lanny Kuehl. In 2006 it was acquired by Brian Bruening who opened Schera's Restaurant, the business at this location in 2011. In 2006 the property was sold to Brian Bruening who opened Schera's Restaurant, the business at this location in 2011.
