

Affordable Connectivity Program Helping Households Connect

The Affordable Connectivity Program is an FCC program that helps connect families and households struggling to afford internet service.

The Affordable Connectivity Program provides:

- Up to $30/month discount for broadband service.
- Up to $75/month discount for households on qualifying Tribal lands.

The Affordable Connectivity Program is limited to one monthly service discount per household.

Who is Eligible?

A household is eligible if a member of the household meets at least one of the criteria below:

- Has an income that is at or below 200% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines;
- Participates in certain assistance programs, such as SNAP, Medicaid, Federal Public Housing Assistance, SSI, WIC, or Lifeline;
- Participates in one of several Tribal specific programs, such as Bureau of Indian Affairs General Assistance, Tribal Head Start (only households meeting the relevant income qualifying standard), Tribal TANF, or Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations;
- Is approved to receive benefits under the free and reduced-price school lunch program or the school breakfast program, including through the USDA Community Eligibility Provision;
- Received a Federal Pell Grant during the current award year.

Two-Steps to Enroll

1. Go to ACPBenefit.org to submit an application or print out a mail-in application;
2. After confirming eligibility, contact your local internet service provider to select a plan and have the discount applied to your bill.

Eligible households must both apply for the program and contact a participating internet provider to select a service plan.

Mediacom participates in ACP and wants to help eligible participants maximize the benefit.

- For $30/month, Mediacom's C2C+ delivers internet download speeds of up to 50 Mbps; modems and unlimited data are included in the price for qualifying households.
- ACP participants can also use the subsidy to offset monthly costs of other Mediacom high-speed internet service tiers.
